

Bulldog Creative Copywriting

When you need words that make you money...put the bulldog to work.

Writing Sample – Professional Organizer

The first full-service professional organizer in L.A. who wants to get inside your refrigerator and your stomach!

Let's face it. If you're even thinking about calling any professional organizer, you're already feeling overwhelmed and very tired of your current living space.

Any professional organizer, including myself, can get your home or office beautifully organized, and you'll love the results.

But...You'll probably not stay organized!

Here's why.

Client after client tells me that staying organized takes lots and lots of energy. If your refrigerator looks like the top of your counters or the cluttered masses lining your hallway, the energy you need to stay focused and organized simply doesn't exist.

This is where my service is like nothing else you'll experience with any other organizer.

Let me explain. When we book a session, I want to know everything about your organizational challenges, but I don't stop there.

Remember, solving your organizational issues is NOT the real challenge for you. The real challenge is STAYING organized. It takes energy, LOTS of energy. I want you to stay organized long after we stop working together.

That's why I structure our sessions to include nutritional coaching at no additional charge.

Yes, what's in your refrigerator and your stomach is directly connected to your ability to stay organized.

How can you expect to stay energized and focused if you're slowly poisoning your body?

You can stop this cycle now! Call me today for a complimentary, no-obligation friendly consultation. Even if you don't book a session, I want to give you very valuable knowledge NOW that will help you get and stay organized.

Cheryl Perkins - Creating Balance
310.306.1769
Cheryl@creating-balance.net